Mia’s Useful Umbrella

On Saturday morning, Mia walked to the park with her grandad. Dark clouds gathered, but she took her blue umbrella just in case. At the pond, they saw three ducks swimming in a line. Mia had brought a small bag of oats. Grandad said to sprinkle only a little for the ducks. Soon, rain began to fall. Mia opened the umbrella and they hurried to a wooden shelter. They waited there until the shower stopped. On the way home, Mia spotted a yellow leaf stuck to the umbrella. She gave it to Grandad to use as a bookmark. “What a useful umbrella!” he laughed.
